A two-day State Level Workshop on Watershed Development Projects in Shifting Cultivation Areas (WDPSCA) and National Watershed Development Projects in Rainfed Areas (NWDPR) was held at Shillong, Meghalaya on the 14th & 15th November, 2006.

Shri P.W. Ingty, I.A.S., Commissioner & Secretary, Soil & Water Conservation Department, Meghalaya presided over the Inaugural Session, in which Shri M.N. Mukhim, Minister in-charge of Soil & Water Conservation was the Chief Guest and Shri S. Chatterjee, I.A.S., Additional Chief Secretary & Agricultural Production Commissioner the Guest of Honour.

Shri K.C. Momin, Director of Soil & Water Conservation delivered the Welcome Address and stated that the main aim of the workshop is to keep the officers and field functionaries of the Department abreast of the new developments and new ideas in watershed development programmes. He emphasized the need for concentrated interactions on watershed management programmes focussing on the effects of high rainfall in hilly and mountainous terrains of the north eastern region of India. Shri A. Syiem, Additional Director of Soil & Water Conservation gave a powerpoint presentation on the activities taken up at the Umpling-Umrynjah Watershed (WDPSCA) highlighting the empowerment of beneficiary families during the implementation of the project.

The Chief Guest, Shri M.N. Mukhim, Minister while releasing the booklet entitled "Success Stories of Umpling-Umrynjah Watershed" said that the Soil & Water Conservation Department is playing a vital role in the conservation of natural resources. Shri Chatterjee emphasized on the need for watershed approach in development of agriculture and horticulture in the State.

A NEW AWAKENING

The holding of the Workshop 'Landslide Hazards Mitigation in Meghalaya' by the Department is a response to a new awakening borne out of the need to address to a relevant issue – disaster management. Although disaster management covers a much wider scope and definition, landslide mitigation is however, one of its important components.

Since in Meghalaya, roadways are the only means of communication, their disruption during occurrences of natural calamities could cause severe consequences. In such times, essential commodities could not reach affected people, particularly in the rural areas, human casualties could not be attended to and relief efforts get stranded. Although landslides in the State occur frequently, the role of the Department is limited only to this important aspect of disaster management, that is, to stabilize landslide and to identify areas prone to landslides besides awareness programmes for the common man. Another landslide problem in the State is that which occurs in the steep hill slopes which are bereft of soil cover mainly due to degradation. This problem occurs all over the State during the monsoon season and causes flash floods and dumping of debris along water courses and sand on the narrow valleys.

This is perhaps where there comes a need for the Department to work in tandem with other departments, notably, the Public Works Department and Agriculture Department to check landslides wherever possible and in the event of landslides occurring, to mitigate its hazards. I hope that the recommendations of the Workshop would be taken up in letter and spirit keeping in view environmental consideration and safety of the people at large.

THE SHILLONG DECLARATION, 2006

The Shillong Declaration, 2006 contained the recommendations of the State Level Workshop on Watershed Development Projects in Shifting Cultivation Areas (WDPSCA) and National Watershed Development Projects in Rainfed Areas (NWDPRA) as follows:-

- Authentic database relating to the inventory of resources, adoption of effective soil, water and energy conservation measures and enhancement of input use efficiency.
- Scientifically efficient water management including integrated use of rain, surface and ground water, and provision of adequate draining.
- Quantification of short and long term impacts of resource management practices on soil and water quality, crop productivity and environment.
- Identification of farming systems having higher resource use efficiency in terms of water productivity and nutrients use efficiency for varying agro-ecological zones.
- Sound cultivation methods on sloping and marginal lands following integrated watershed management mode.
- Periodic monitoring of soil health and water quality in mining areas of the State.
- Speedy transfer of improved technologies on the farmers' fields to bridge the existing gap, or realizing the targeted production and minimizing the regional disparities.
- Massive awareness among the farmers and other stakeholders about the value and scarcity of water and other resources, and the attendant hazards of their improper use.

- Management Capacity Building at all levels – villagers, users, associations, district administration officials.
- Supportive legal-policy framework – Legislative amendments to enable creation of Water Users Associations and their functioning.
- Focus on multiple uses of water.

WORKSHOP ON LANDSLIDE HAZARDS MITIGATION

Workshop on “Landslide Hazard Mitigation for the State of Meghalaya” was held on the 8th December, 2006 at K.J.P. Assembly Hall, Shillong in collaboration with Geological Survey of India, North Eastern Region. The aim of the workshop is to improve the level of preparedness at all levels, create awareness as well as forecasting and preventing landslide incidences to prevent loss of life and property.

Shri K.C.Momin, Director of Soil & Water Conservation, Meghalaya presided over the inaugural function of the Workshop. Speakers at the function include Shri S.F.Khongwir, IAS, Secretary, Revenue Department, Government of Meghalaya and Dr. Y.P.Sharda, Director, Geological Survey of India who emphasized on psychological and logistical preparedness while calling upon the involvement of common man and spreading of awareness as important exercises. Shri P.W.Ingyt, IAS, Commissioner & Secretary, Soil & Water Conservation, Meghalaya said that the workshop is very relevant to Meghalaya as landslide is occurring yearly in the state causing untold hardships to the people.

Altogether there are 2 (two) technical Sessions which were chaired by Dr. Y.P. Sharda, Director of Geological Survey of India, New Delhi and by Dr. Y.C. Joshi, Director of Geological Survey of India, North Eastern Region respectively.

Participants at the Workshop are drawn from amongst the officers from P.W.D., Irrigation, PHE, Revenue, Soil & Water Conservation, Fisheries and also local non-governmental organizations.

MISCELLANEOUS

BLOOD, TOIL, SWEAT AND TEARS....

Winston Churchill

(On May 13, 1940, Winston Churchill made this brief statement, which became one of the greatest calls-to-arms ever uttered. It came at the beginning of World War II when the armies of Adolf Hitler were roaring across Europe, seemingly unstoppable, conquering country after country for Nazi Germany, and when the survival of Britain itself seemed quite uncertain).

“....that this House welcomes the formation of a government representing the united and inflexible resolve of the nation to prosecute the war with Germany to a victorious conclusion.”

To form an administration of this scale and complexity is a serious undertaking in itself. But we are in the preliminary phase of one of the greatest battles in history. We are in action at many other points-in Norway and in Holland-and we have to be prepared in the Mediterranean. The air battle is continuing, and many preparations have to be made here at home.

In this crisis I think I may be pardoned if I do not address the House at any length today, and I hope that any of my friends and colleagues or former colleagues who are affected by the political reconstruction will make all allowances for any lack of ceremony with which it has been necessary to act.

I say to the House as I said to ministers who have joined this government, I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears, and sweat. We have before us an ordeal of the most grievous kind. We have before us many, many months of struggle and suffering.

You ask, what is our policy? I say it is to wage war by land, sea, and air. War with all our might and with all the strength God has given us, and to wage war against a monstrous tyranny never surpassed in the dark and lamentable catalogue of human crime. That is our policy.

You ask, what is our aim? I can answer in one word. It is victory. Victory at all costs - Victory in spite of all terrors - Victory, however long and hard the road may be, for without victory there is no survival.

Let that be realized. No survival for the British Empire, no survival for all that the British Empire has stood for, no survival for the urge, the impulse of the ages, that mankind shall move forward toward his goal.

I take up my task in buoyancy and hope. I feel sure that our cause will not be suffered to fail among men. I feel entitled at this juncture, at this time, to claim the aid of all and to say, “Come then, let us go forward together with our united strength.”

THEY SAY

“I find that the harder I work, the more luck I seem to have.”

- Thomas Jefferson

“In the end, we will remember not the words of our enemies, but the silence of our friends.”

- Martin Luther King Jr.

“If you are going through hell, keep going.”

- Sir Winston Churchill

"Forgive your enemies, but never forget their names."

John F. Kennedy

HUMOUR

"I keep seeing spots before my eyes," said Joe. "I wonder if there's something wrong with me."

"Have you seen a doctor?" asked Will.

"No," said Joe. "Just spots."

Lying battered and bruised in hospital, a man explained to his friend, "I told my wife that when the football is on TV, it would take a team of wild horses to drag me away. I still have no idea where she got them."

"I began today with an act of unselfish generosity," a woman told her neighbour. "I gave $10 to an absolute no-hoper."

"That's a lot of money to give away," the neighbour observed. "What did your husband say about that?"

"He said thanks," said the first woman.

"What happened with that girl I introduced you to at the dance?" Bert asked his friend George.

"Nothing," George replied sadly. "I asked her four times if I could see her home and she said that if I was that keen she'd fax me a photo of her house."

Hopelessly lost, the man pulled his car into an abandoned petrol pump in the desert and got out. The only creature there was an owl sitting on a cactus. "Owl, can you tell me the quickest way to town?"

"Are you walking or driving?" asked the wise owl.

"I'm driving."

"Well, that's the quickest way."

"Can I have a glass of less, please?" a man asks a barman.

"I'm sorry, mate," says the barman, looking somewhat bewildered. "That's a new one on me. Where did you hear about it?"

Explains the customer, "Well, only last week my doctor advised me to drink less."
